DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species D, claims 1-10, in the reply filed on 3/23/05 is acknowledged.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3641

5. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nielson et al. (US Patent # 5,661,257). Nielson et al. discloses a flameless tracer that can be used with a projectile comprising photodiodes (miniaturized electronic light sources), preferably LED photodiodes visible in the infrared spectrum, wherein the photodiodes and electronic components needed to operate the photodiodes are encased in a hardened polymeric molding compound (i.e. G-hardened) (columns 3 and 4, lines 50-67 and lines 1-20 respectively). It is inherent that the device would contain a power source since the photodiodes would not work without a power source. The light source is selectively activated when the projectile is expelled from the delivery device to mark a target (columns 1 and 2, lines 64-67 and 1-7 respectively) or when the projectile is expelled from the launcher so it can be viewed during flight (column 5, lines 50-67). The device comprises oscillator electronic for providing a plurality of pulses at different frequencies and intensities. The projectile comprises a setback fuse and delay assembly for activating the electronics of the photodiodes.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Adams (US Patent # 5,222,798), Endriz (US Patent # 4,934,273), Grenier et al. (US Patent # 4,710,028), Monochello (US Patent # 6,780,130), Blackwood et al. (US Patent # 5,425,542), Coury (US Patent # 3,741,811), Barron (US Patent # 3,464,863), Darland et al. (US Patent # 2,985,702), Bennett (US Patent # 4,547,837), Miller et al. (US Patent # 5,018,447), Gamble (US Patent # 4,989,881), and Rector et al. (US Patent Application Publication 2004/0099173 A1).
